

12 New Professors Added to Faculty

By CHARLES ROHAN

The recent addition of 12 professors has increased the St. Joseph faculty to record proportions for the 1953-54 school year. The 56 teachers and eight other members of the staff comprise the largest faculty in the history of the school. The 12 new faculty members are:

Mr. John D. Angus, instructor in Sociology, was born in Merrill, Wis., on March 11, 1923. He received his A.B. in Sociology from Notre Dame University in 1952, and his M.A. in 1953. While at Notre Dame, he participated, as a research assistant, in the Social Science and Foreign Affairs project.

The Rev. Donald L. Ballman has been appointed part time instructor in Philosophy, while completing geology studies here at St. Joseph's. Father Ballman was recently ordained at Carthage, Ohio, after studying at St. Charles Seminary and here at St. Joseph's.

Mr. David W. Champlin, instructor in Speech and English, was born Dec. 12, 1915, in Chicago, Ill. Mr. Champlin received his A.B. from St. Louis University in 1937, and his M.A. from Columbia University in 1947.

Mr. Randall E. Decker, instructor in Journalism, is the new director of the News Bureau. Mr. Decker, a native of Missouri, received his Bachelor's Degree from the University of Missouri in 1939, and his Master's Degree from Colgate University in 1953.

Mr. Michael A. Gomez has been named as an instructor in Economics. Mr. Gomez received his B.S. in Economics from Louisiana State University.

Mr. Paul J. Kiley, instructor in English, received his A.B. from Boston College in 1932, and his M.A. from the University of Notre Dame in 1948. He has taught at the Divine Heart Seminary in Donaldson, Ind., and the University of Notre Dame.

Mr. Richard L. Kilmer, instructor in History, received his Bachelor and Master's Degree from the University of Notre Dame, and will also receive his Ph.D. from the same school in 1954. Mr. Kilmer served as special assistant to General Eisenhower during the political campaign of 1952.

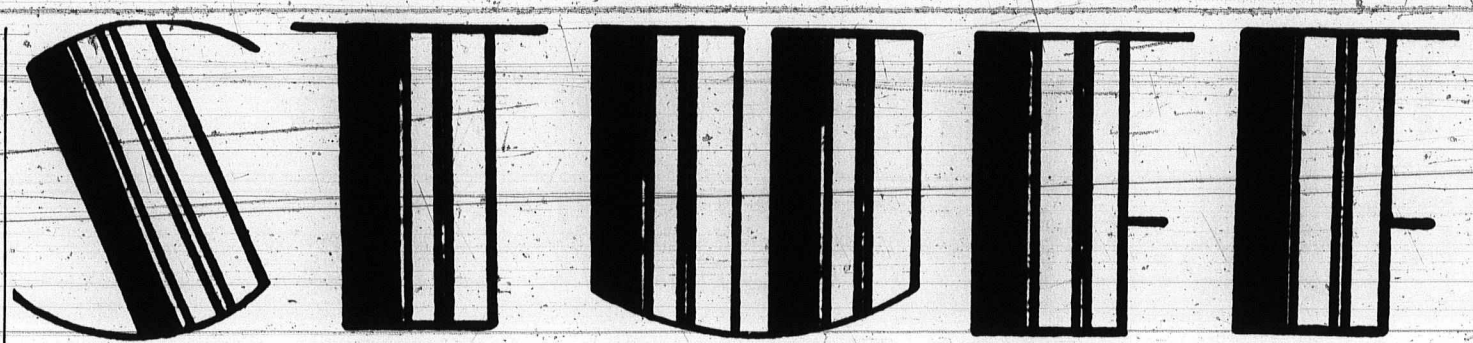

The Rev. William Kramer has been appointed instructor in Chemistry. Father Kramer studied at St. Joseph's, St. Charles Seminary, and the University of Fribourg in Switzerland.

The Rev. John M. Lefko has been named to the promotion staff of the college. Father Lefko was ordained in 1938, and recently served as pastor of St. John's parish, Whiting, Ind.

Mr. Lee J. O'Connell, Speech and Dramatics teacher, was born Feb. 19, 1927, in Oakland, Calif. He received his A.B. and M.A. Degrees from Wayne University. Mr. O'Connell will also direct the Columbian Players.

Mr. Joseph G. Pawlowski, instructor in Physical Education, was born March 10, 1919, in Aurora, Ill. He received his M.S. and B.S. Degrees from the University of Illinois and formerly served as head coach of the Paxton, Ill., high school football team.

The Rev. Paul R. White has been named part time instructor in Philosophy. He formerly attended St. Joseph's College, and was ordained at St. Charles Seminary in June, 1953.

Record 606 Students Attend Open Mass

Summer Months Bring Groups To St. Joe Campus

Bears, nuns, firefighters, farmers, and Alcoholics Anonymous all did their share to enliven the Collegeville campus during this past summer.

The largest number was present Aug. 4 and 5, when approximately a thousand farmers from northwestern Indiana met for an annual tour sponsored by the Indiana Farm Management Association. Seven hundred altar boys from 36 parishes in northern Indiana attended the 11th annual Servers' Day on campus June 25 despite adverse weather conditions. The all-events trophy went to the servers of St. John's Parish, Whiting.

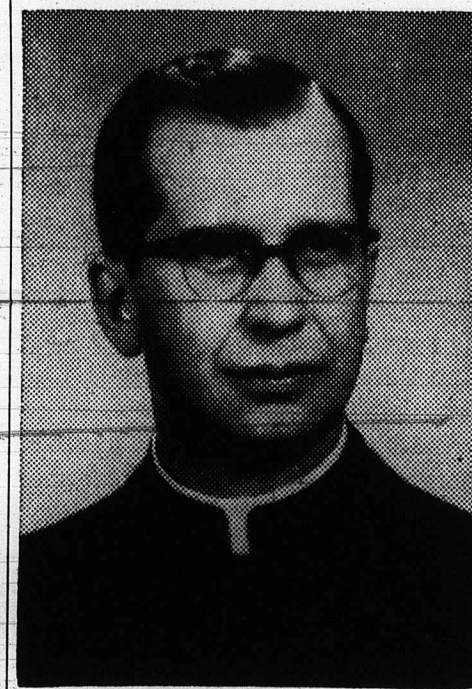

Hundreds of firefighters, members of the Indiana Volunteer Firemen's Association, attended their annual convention June 19 and 20, on campus. The program included meetings, a banquet, and a parade through Rensselaer. Representatives of the Central Catholic College Association, an organization of college business managers, were here July 20 for their conference, with the Rev. Joseph A. Otte, college treasurer, as host.

The Confraternity of Christian Doctrine occupied Collegeville from Aug. 25-27, conducting conferences and meetings during the session.

Three August week-end retreats drew almost 200 area Catholics here. Two of the gatherings were for men, one for women. Other retreats, in June, were held for the Lafayette diocesan priests, the Christian Brothers of Ireland, and the Alcoholics Anonymous organization.

Summer school at St. Joseph's attracted 82 sisters from 15 different orders and 13 laymen. The sisters

Very Rev. Raphael Gross, C.P.P.S.

Adams Named N. F. Treasurer

Buel T. Adams, St. Joseph senior and Phase editor for 1954, has been elected national treasurer of the National Federation of Catholic College Students. The former Staff editor was chosen by unanimous vote at the 10th National N.F.C.C.S. Convention held in Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 24-29. The Ohio-Kentucky

St. Joseph's College officially opened its 63rd year on Sept. 16, with the traditional Mass of the Holy Spirit celebrated by the Rev. Raphael H. Gross, president of the college. A record enrollment of students were present for the opening.

The 606 students registered for the first semester of the 1953-54 academic year, represent the largest student body ever assembled on the Collegeville campus. The Rev. Charles J. Robbins, registrar of the college, also revealed that the enrollment of 344 Freshmen this year, has eclipsed the previous high set in 1951.

In his address of welcome during the Mass, Fr. Gross stressed the opportunities a Catholic college has to offer, and the position of a Catholic gentleman in the modern world.

Prior to the opening of school, the incoming Freshman class underwent a six-day orientation program, during which time they became acquainted with the college and its facilities. This period began Sept. 8 with matriculation and enrollment, and continued until the official opening on Tuesday, Sept. 16. N.F.C.C.S. delegation acted as host for the 700 members attending the convention.

St. Joseph N.F.C.C.S. members attending the convention were Adams, Ken Ryan, and John Good. N.F.C.C.S. delegation acted as host

Glee Club Plans Record Schedule

The Rev. Lawrence F. Heiman, director of the St. Joseph Glee Club, has announced that the schedule of appearances for the 1953-54 season should exceed the record number of 23 concerts set by last year's group. A definite schedule has not yet been constructed, but plans are being made for concerts throughout Lake County, and possibly Chicago as well. The Glee Club's initial appearance will be on October 17.

The Freshman class has provided quite a few members for the Glee Club this year, among them, Edward Kern, an outstanding Baritone soloist.

Frosh Retreat Held Sept. 11-13

The annual Freshman retreat, held during Orientation Week, was conducted this year by Rev. Anthony Suelzer, an alumni of St. Joseph's College. Fr. Suelzer was ordained in 1942, and has been stationed at Hammond, Ind., for six years.

In his sermon during the three day retreat, Fr. Suelzer stressed the principals of a Christian gentleman, and expressed the position of a Catholic gentleman in the world today.

To close the retreat, the Freshman class received Holy Communion in a body at the final Mass.

Homecoming Scheduled For Saturday, October 17

An Indiana resort favorite, Jimmy Stier, has been signed as the orchestra for St. Joe's annual Homecoming Dance, Oct. 17. Homecoming chairman Don Klingenberg has announced. Stier features a 12-piece orchestra and a girl singer. He has had a number of engagements throughout the state and was at Hamilton Lake all summer. After the informal Homecoming dance, St. Joe men will have the opportunity to participate in chapter two of the "Midnight Revels," a supper club type of operation in Raleigh Hall from midnight until 3:00. Repeat performers will be Willie Jones and his combo, who inaugurated the "Revels" last May after the 1953 Prom.

The weekend will begin Friday, Oct. 16, with the traditional pep rally and bonfire in front of the band pavilion on the intramural field. This event, the end of the initiation for the freshmen, will close with the frosh doing their Indian dance around the fire and heaving their beanies into the flames.

A hayride, beginning at Raleigh Hall after the rally, is being planned for Homecoming couples.

Although no individual hall floats or decorations will be made this year, Klingenberg has stated that the entire campus will be decorated. The decorations committee is also endeavoring to construct an artificial fountain-pool for the dance, similar in operation to that of the 1951 Prom.

Bids for the dance will be approximately $4.50, Klingenberg said.

18 Gain Positions On Dean's List

Joseph Barnett of Peru, Ind., and Buel Adams of Mansfield, Ohio, headed the list of 18 students named on the Dean's List covering the period from Sept. 16 to Nov. 6. Both Adams and Barnett recorded a perfect 3.00 index.

Others making the list were: Edmund Ashburner, Pittsburg, Pa.; Bernard Boff, Defiance, Ohio; Richard Doherty, Ottawa, Ill.; Marvin Hackman, Jasper, Ind.; Robert Jones, Centerville, Iowa; George Kuhn, Detroit, Mich.; John Miller, Lackawanna, N.Y.; William Miller, Canton, Ohio; Francis Molson, Whiting, Ind.; Steve Oleszkiewicz, Chicago, Ill.; Ralph Pax, Celina, Ohio; Paul Rettig, Crown Point, Ind.; Thomas Shworles, Chicago, Ill.; Roger Uecker, Fort Wayne, Ind.; James Wright, Fowler, Ind.; William Zimmer, Covington, Ky.

An index of 2.5 is required for the Dean's List.

Sophomore Mass Set

The Freshman and Sophomore classes have initiated religious programs for the coming year. The programs were put into practice last week, and will continue throughout the school year.

The Sophomores will receive Holy Communion in a body every Wednesday morning at the seven o'clock Mass. The Freshman class will meet every Friday evening at the Grotto for the public recitation of the Rosary.

The Kinsey Report: Fact, Fiction, or Pack of Lies?

Within the past month, the results of a survey taken by an Indiana University professor, Alfred C. Kinsey, were published in a large, impressive-looking volume, with an even more impressive title, Sexual Behavior in the Human Female. The controversial contents of this report have been criticized, praised, exaggerated, misquoted, condemned, and summarized in innumerable pieces of writing since the publication of the book on Sept. 14.

However, no matter how diversified the opinions concerning the report may be, it is generally recognized that the basic conclusions of the book are:

- that 50% of American women have had sexual intercourse before marriage.
- that 26% of American women have had extramarital relations before the age of 40.
- that 95% of American women have had heterosexual (petting) experience before the age of 18.

Men of St. Joe, what is your opinion? Do you accept Dr. Kinsey's figures concerning the moral level of American womanhood? Perhaps at first sight you are inclined to agree with the professor. If so, take a second look. Discard the abstract, impersonal terms of "American womanhood" and replace it with real concrete names—the names of your mothers and sisters.

If Kinsey's report means anything at all, it means simply this: that any group of women in the United States, chosen at random, will bear out his figures. If it does not mean this, then it is a book full of lies and misrepresentations, not fit to be printed and certainly not fit to be read.

Men of St. Joe, your mothers and sisters are a random group, chosen solely on the basis of the fact that you, their sons and brothers go to school at St. Joseph's College. So if Kinsey's book says anything at all, it says this:

- that one out of every two St. Joe mothers have had sexual intercourse before marriage.
- that one of every four St. Joe mothers is now practicing adultery.
- that 95 of every 100 St. Joe sisters over 18, have had illicit petting experience.

We personally find it hard to imagine thoughts more revolting than these. So revolting are they, indeed, that we hasten to beg your pardon for even putting them into words.

Perhaps the biggest reason for the inaccuracy of the report is the unequal distribution of the interviewees, both religiously and socially. The Catholic and Jewish religions are severely underrepresented. This lack of religion among the interviewees certainly accounts for much of the inaccuracy. An increased number of Catholics among the interviewed would undoubtedly lower the percentages found.

A second reason disproving the findings, is the number of college women interviewed. Here Kinsey's lack of proportion reaches its greatest extent. 15% of the women interviewed had either attended or are now attending college. Yet only 13% of the total population of the United States have ever attended college. This would likewise affect the conclusions drawn from the interviews.

Finally, it is well to ask, just what kind of woman would want to answer such questions pertaining to her personal life when interviewed by a stranger? Can these women be called typical American women? No, they cannot. Yet their answers are used to judge American women in general, and our mothers in particular.

In conclusion, it is necessary to mention that ruling throughout the Kinsey Report is the implied conviction that sexual standards should be lowered to fit the sexual practices of the day. This alone provides sufficient grounds for a condemnation of the report. But, most of all, the Kinsey report is a direct attack on the reputation of our mothers and our sisters and all the Catholic mothers and sisters throughout the country, and for this reason, should be condemned.

BILLSTUFF

By BILL FEELY

Another year is under way and, once again, the returning St. Joe student deposits his sun tanned form at the familiar desk for a nine month tussle with the books after a well-spent and fully recreated vacation. The familiar class bell, the line at the drinking fountain, the newly waxed floor of the Science Hall, and the multitude of Frosh, make him fully aware that the old college is back in business. The place hasn't changed much, but a few new items do meet the eye of the veteran Punite. A new dietician, a plan for a new residence hall, and the rejuvenated Raleigh coffee house are but a few of the noticeable changes. Today our student wanders over to the post office, only to find the campus news publication gently resting in its two-weeks' accumulation of dust. After glancing at the sports page his attention turns to the editorial page. Stunned, staggered, and shocked, he remarks, "What happened to Shavings?" "Who is this Feely?"

The above tale, whether it be fact or fiction, is my way of introducing this new column. In past columns Stuff readers have imbibed on Frank Pavalko's (52) Champagne, and read diligently through Ed. Byrne's (ex 55) Shavings. It is now my personal wish that they will just as heartily satiate themselves with Billstuff.

What better way can there be to start a column than to mention those who tied the proverbial knot this past summer? Among those now enjoying matrimonial bliss and living in town are Ed Zander, Cory Stein, who brings his wife with him to Fr. Hiller's 7 P.M. German class, and John Sheets. As a sidelight to this, yours truly made the first step toward the trek to the altar by becoming engaged.

Turning from the romantic to the educational, I find that Mr. Ralph Cappuccelli, one-time speech teacher here and director of Columbian Players, "Othello" '52, is now teaching at Cantriet Junior High School of Monroe, Michigan. Apparently, the frosh aren't the only befuddled ones when it comes to locating classrooms. One of the new history profs began his eleven o'clock class with a prayer in his usual manner while facing the crucifix. Upon turning around he found himself in Fr. Marcellus Dreiling's calculus class.

In the campus automotive line: John Dennis exposing his pink convertible's motor to the world... Ed Cyrier, having disposed of his aging Oldsmobile ("Green Bomb," as he called it) now the proud possessor of the "Blue Beetle"... Ted Ashburner rambling around in his Rambler... Don Merki with a new Ford... Matt Herriges keeping the farm animals about Drexel awake with the roar of his Chevy's motor.

Campus fishermen, attention: For a few tips on how to catch those big ones you might consult Bob Wiatr who caught a six pound bass in the campus quarry on registration day. I am told by those who claim to be well informed that this is near record for a spinning reel.

Odds'n Ends: Jerry Blaesing dancing with movie actress Margaret O'Brien at a party at John Cheevers' house this past summer... Joe Walinchus already possessor of a parking ticket from the Rensselaer police force... Suds Newett (55) on leave from the army engaged in a hot pinhole game in Joel Francoeur and Hugo Pennington's room... Frs. Kostka and Burns imitating Wimbledon tennis officials by setting up a ladder to photograph a Puma pre-season scrimmage... Frosh George Archibald taking over as official clock of the cafeteria... The new economics prof given the nickname of a famous baseball pitcher of yesteryear... Jerry Gladu among the late registrants to the Junior class... Ron Favorite (ex-55) having one of his cartoons appear in a South American newspaper... Chet Pilat, champ of the new pin ball machines at the bowling alley... Fred Handler, one of the first casualties of the current football season in a mishap with a scissors.

There's more to write but no place to write it, so I'll close for now, but come next issue, Billstuff will return with more news about YOU, the student.

The Purpose of NFCCS On The St. Joe Campus

During the past few weeks talk about the N.F.C.C.S. has been rampant about campus. What and why is it?

The National Federation of Catholic College Students is a service organization uniting campus activities with those of other colleges within a local area or region, and subsequently, through the regions, with those of Catholic colleges throughout the nation.

The N.F.C.C.S. primarily unites campus clubs through commissions controlling activities in fields such as press, science, industrial relations, family life, liturgy, international relations, and several others. Through these commissions similar clubs of various campuses communicate with each other, meet together in workshops, and discuss mutual problems in meetings.

St. Joseph's is a part of the Fort Wayne region which embraces eight Catholic schools in Indiana and Michigan, including Notre Dame and St. Mary's of the Woods. In each region commission chairmen are scattered among the different schools; St. Joseph's has the press and science commission chairs of the region.

The chairman, four elected officers of the region, and the senior and junior delegates of each college comprise the regional council, which meets three or four times a year at various schools in order to discuss regional problems. The senior and junior delegates are the official representatives of the college at these deliberations and at other councils and congresses.

Once a year all members of the regional council and other regional residents interested in N.F.C.C.S. gather at one of the colleges for a congress to elect officers, plan commission programs for the coming year, and discuss mutual problems. In 1953 this congress was held at St. Joseph's.

Also once each year, during the summer, delegates from schools throughout the country meet for a national congress at which the activities of the regional congress are repeated on a larger scale. The national officers elected then, and the national commission chairmen meet in national councils and committees throughout the year.

The N.F.C.C.S. is the first agency ever to be officially approved by the bishops of the United States as the over-all organization in the Catholic college student field. It is also approved by the Pope through the international Catholic student organization, Pax Romana, of which the N.F.C.C.S. is a branch.

On St. Joseph's campus, the N.F.C.C.S. personnel are: Ken Ryan, Senior delegate; John Good, Junior delegate; Buel Adams, National Treasurer and Regional Press Commission chairman; and Frank Holzer, Regional Science Commission chairman. The campus moderator as well as the Fort Wayne Regional moderator is Rev. Albert Wuest, C.P.P.S.

We Do Have Much To Be Thankful For

Sept. '53 — and another school year begins. It's time once again to count our blessings. Living in America today, it is not difficult to overlook the good fortunes that have been bestowed upon us. We live in a country of free enterprise, of unlimited opportunity, a country built on the principles of the four freedoms. Our standard of living is the highest. Our scientific and economic masterminds have made amazing discoveries to enable us to live better. Indeed, we have many things for which to be thankful.

As we begin the school year, we are realizing still another of the great advantages of America, the possibility of receiving a complete education. In furthering the discussion, we are fortunate in having a school such as St. Joseph's to enable us to complete our education. In the finest traditions of America, St. Joe joins the other colleges and universities throughout the country in developing the young men of America in such a way as to enable them to strengthen the future of their country.

But here at Collegeville there are advantages not to be had at many of the other colleges and universities. The opportunity for daily Mass and Holy Communion is certainly a great assistance to the student throughout his college life. Coinciding with this advantage are the other religious services held frequently for the benefit of the student body.

Another of St. Joe's advantages is the excellent faculty-student ratio, and the genuine interest of the faculty for the welfare of the students. Finally, we have on the campus an easily recognizable spirit of friendliness and cooperation seldom found in the larger institutions of learning.

All in all, there is much to be proud of here at St. Joseph's, and likewise, there is much for which to be thankful.

Green Beanies Give 1st Thoughts

By ED STEPAN

Recently, a group of freshmen were asked the question, "What was your first impression of St. Joseph's?" The answers they gave are recorded below.

Paul Parks: For being a small college, St. Joseph's has everything you would want.

Phil Fox: My English teacher with the grey mustache.

Jack Strisko: The number of Masses they have going on at the same time. I never saw that in my church.

Joe Mackey: The wide open spaces; the corn fields, I mean.

Jim Hefferman: The friendly attitude among the professors and the students.

Jerry Fisher: The rip-roaring town, and all the booze you can drink.

Carlos and Raymond Torres: The two of us being from Puerto Rico, we are very happy because the American boys have accepted us so well.

Ed Kaiser: I can't complain. I just laugh and laugh and laugh all day.

Jim McLaughlin: The time the faculty took to help us make out our schedules.

Norman Dudek: The library, because of the number of volumes for the size of the school.

Grant Shulitowski: The two things that impressed me were the beautiful (Continued on page 4)

Pumatters

By DICK OBERGFELL

Greetings Puma sports fans! Here we are embarking upon a new year of sports at St. Joe. But before we move into the football news for this season, let us take a backward glance at the accomplishments of Coach Jim Beane's baseball crew of last season.

The Puma nine compiled a 14-2 overall record which includes a 5-1 mark in the I.C.C. They were second only to Valparaiso, who finished with a 7-1 league mark. It was the big bats of Bob Wasni, Ralph Meyer, and Willie Kellogg that gave St. Joe a record breaking batting average of .304. The previous high was .301, also set by Puma sluggers in 1952.

"Skip" Meyer, playing in six conference tilts, collected 10 safeties in 21 trips to give him a league leading average of .476. "Skip's" powerful hitting and flawless fielding earned him an All Conference berth at first base. The skillful first sacker accepted 44 chances without a miscue.

But it was Bob Wasni who carried the big stick for the Puma squad. Bob carried a .375 clip through six conference games, and set two new marks by clubbing four home runs and driving in 13 tallies. This record breaking performance earned "the Whale" a slot on the All Conference squad, as well as being chosen the most outstanding player of the 1953 season in Indiana Collegiate Conference competition. In 16 Puma games, Bob hit a total of six home runs and had a season average of .469.

Willie Kellogg, the Puma's sparkling shortstop, connected for a trio of three baggers to equal the league record set by Wasni in 1952.

Here's hats off and a belated congratulations to Mr. Beane and the boys for their fine showing last season.

Intramural Play

Starts

Two leagues of touch football will initiate the fall intramural sports program at St. Joe's this year. The 13 teams within the two leagues will see action on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays throughout the season, and a play-off game between the two league champions will close the season and determine the school champs. The winner of the play-off game will meet Valparaiso intramural champions in a post season game.

Also on the sports agenda is the intramural bowling league to be held on Tuesday nights at the Maple Lanes Bowling Alleys. The six top men in the league will comprise the varsity bowling team for the season. St. Joe, along with Valparaiso, Depauw, Notre Dame, and Loyola, are members of the Midwestern Intramural Bowling Congress.

A Frosh soccer league has also been organized this year, with the games being played each Friday afternoon.

Athletic Department Gets New Director

The Rev. Norman L. Heckman, associate professor of chemistry, has been named Director of Athletics, succeeding the Rev. Edward M. Roof, who resigned the post during the summer. Father Heckman served as chairman of the Committee on Athletics for three years. As a student, he played end on the football team here at St. Joe's, and was a charter member of the Monogram Club.

Father Roof, who held the position as Athletic Director for 16 years, will remain as tennis coach. During his tenure, Father Roof organized the Midlands Intercollegiate Conference, and was active in the work of the Indiana Collegiate Conference.

Mr. Richard F. Scharf, head basketball coach and former student, was chosen as Father Heckman's assistant.

Pumas Snap Streak, Beat Ambrose 14-7 In Season Opener

By JIM BOOTH

In the first game of their 1953 football schedule the Pumas beat St. Ambrose 14-7, in a non-conference tilt, before five thousand cheering fans at Davenport, Iowa. The victory marked the first Puma win over St. Ambrose in St. Joseph's history.

The game got off to a quick start with the Pumas taking an early lead. With only three minutes gone of the first period Puma center, Ed Linskey recovered a fumble on the St. Ambrose seventeen yard line. On the first play Bill Zimmer, Puma quarterback, threw an aerial to Pete Fenlon for fourteen yards, and a first down on the Bee's three yard line. Two plays later Bill Zimmer hammered off the three remaining yards for the tally. Ray Ramirez kicked the point after touchdown to put the Pumas on top 7-0.

Late in the second period the Bee's began their initial touchdown march. Jack Abbot, Ambrose quarterback, fired three quick passes to end Dick Lingle, moving the ball to the Pumas two. Abbot then pitched out to the fullback, who plunged over for the score. The point was good and the half ended with the score knotted at 7-7.

The Pumas kicked off to open the second half, and after three unsuccessful attempts the Bee's were forced to punt. However, John Thorpe broke through and blocked the kick with Fred Handler recovering for St. Joe on the Ambrose 28. Ray Ramirez started another Puma drive with the longest run of the day, a 22 yard gain around right end.

From the Bee's six yard line, Bill Zimmer, on a quarterback sneak, sprinted into the end zone for the score. Ramirez kicked the point which ended the scoring for the day.

In the closing seconds of the game Ambrose made a final bid by driving to the St. Joe two yard line. But a strong Puma defense held and that's where the game ended.

The 14-7 win over St. Ambrose snapped two losing streaks for the Pumas. It was the first win over the Davenport eleven in nine previous attempts. It also ended an eleven game stretch without a win.

Unbeaten Valpo Faces St. Joe In ICC Tilt

The student body will get their first look at the Pumas in action when they play Valparaiso here Oct. 3rd.

Valpo, with 2 wins under their belt, will be St. Joe's first ICC foe. The Crusaders smacked Wabash 34-14 in their opener, and handed Indiana State their first set back 31-13 in an ICC contest.

The Pumas will be out to avenge the 32-13 schellacking handed them by the ICC co-champs last year at Chicago's Lutherin Stadium. Valpo led by a mere six points at half-time, but sparked by the brilliant running of Dick Scholon, All-Conference fullback, and Floyd Henderson, the Crusaders left St. Joe at the short end of a 32-7 score. In the closing minutes, the Pumas broke in the scoring column again as Don Gorman plunged over from the three. But this was not enough to keep Valpo from winning their twenty-sixth straight game.

Valpo, netted a total of 2,380 yards in nine contests last year, but 60 per cent of this was accounted for by Scholon, who ground out 701 yards to lead the league, Henderson, who amassed 484 yards, and Norm Arnolt who ran off 268 yards. Fortunately, these three backs are absent from this year's squad. Scholon and Arnolt graduated and Henderson was drafted into the Armed Services.

Back to protect the Crusader's 5-3-1 record will be Jerry Karstens, All-Conference end. Along with Karstens will be quarterback Ernie Morich, Bodney Pappi, a transfer from the University of Colorado, and letterman Jerry Raasch.

All the arguing did the Chicago Bears no good as the Pumas swept a two game softball series. The two games were held on the intramural field and the crowd, consisting mostly of students, was somewhat partial to the home nine.

Student Housing Is Increased

Because of the increased enrollment at St. Joseph's this year, numerous housing improvements have been made throughout the summer, under the direction of the Rev. John P. Sheehan, C.P.P.S. These improvements have expanded the college's housing facilities sufficiently to accommodate the entire student body.

The former residence of the Delvaux family on the western edge of the campus has been renovated, and now serves as a residence for 16 Sophomores. A new home for the Delvaux family is now under construction.

Two new dormitories have been added to the third floor of Science Hall. These rooms were formerly occupied by the study clinic and the Columbian Players. A third dormitory has been prepared on the first floor of the Science Building, and the adjoining room has been converted into a study hall.

Summer Months

represented the largest group of nuns ever to attend the local summer sessions. Most of them participated in the college's theology program.

Football became king on three fronts this summer as professional, collegiate, and high school squads converged on the local training grounds. The pros were the Chicago Bears, here for the tenth season. Their training began July 20 and continued until Sept. 18. At a banquet and kickoff dinner Aug. 5, six Bears, including Coach George Halas, were enrolled as honorary alumni. The professionals responded with an intrasquad benefit game in Rensselaer the next night, which drew almost a thousand spectators.

Three of Chicago's Catholic high school gridiron giants took advantage of local facilities for their training camps. The trainees included the teams of Leo, St. Mel's, and Holy Trinity high schools.

Among the last to show up were St. Joseph's own Pumas, who encamped Sept. 1 for their pre-season workouts.

Stuff Drawing Is Reproduced

The sketch of the Crucifixion by Ronald Favorite, ex '55 and former Stuff artist, has been reprinted in the bulletin of San Jose Parish, Santiago, Chile. This was revealed to the college in a letter from the Chilean parish, a member of the Precious Blood Society's South American Mission.

The sketch, originally appearing in the Easter issue of Stuff, was reprinted in the July 5 Sunday bulletin commemorating the month in honor of the Precious Blood.

Phase, Measure Name Staff for Coming Year

Under the able editing of Buel Adams and Frank Molson, respectively, the yearbook, Phase, and St. Joe's literary publication, Measure, are getting well under way.

The yearbook staff, which includes associate editor Frank Molson and the advisory board of Bill Feely, Ray Sarlitto, John Good, and Bob Michalski, held its first meeting on Sept. 16. At this meeting a theme was decided upon by the group. Also helping to direct Phase are business manager Don Klingensburger and photographer George McCarthy.

At a later meeting on Sept. 23 a tentative dummy was set up for the publication. The editor has announced that club and individual pictures will probably be taken in late October and early November.

On the Measure side of the picture many arrangements are still indefinite. A new type of format is being considered, and there is also hope this year of publishing three editions instead of the usual two.

Working on the staff this year are John Good, William Walker, Joe Barnett and Joe Kneip. A meeting is planned in the near future for all those interested in working on this publication.

Opening Mixer Set For Oct. 3

The Student Council has arranged for 100 girls from Chicago's Mundelein College to be present on the campus Saturday, October 3, for the St. Joe-Valparaiso football game, and for a mixer to be held in Raleigh Hall the same evening. This mixer will be the first of a series of dances, planned by the council, to be held throughout the school year.

A bus trip to Terre Haute, Indiana, has been planned for the following weekend for the St. Joe-Indiana State football game, October 10. The price for the bus and game tickets has been set at $1.50. Following the game, a mixer will be held at St. Mary's of the Woods College in Terre Haute.

Initial Sophomore Court Brings Justice To Frosh

By ROGER UECKER

The first session of the Sophomores Court was held midst an air of quiet dignity in room 201, Science Hall, a room well known to the students for another type of trial.

Presiding over the Sophomore tribunal was that well known jurist, Judge Henry "the bear" Carr. Presenting the case for the Sophomores was Robert Nabb, District Attorney, who was successful throughout the evening in acquiring convictions of the defendants. Charles Rehan, the noted Austrian attorney, served as advisor on the problems touching on international law.

The accused were represented by Richard Kumicich, who registered several pleas for mercy, leniency, and justice on behalf of the clients. These pleas were, however, overruled by a completely unprejudiced jury of Sophomores.

Freshmen accused of such gross crimes as possessing unmade beds, improper identification, failure to respond to Sophomore questioning, and, of course, insubordination, were brought before the court, where they received a fair, impartial trial and were quickly found guilty.

The tribunal also convicted several freshmen of the crimes of not reporting to their assigned rooms and refusing to carry milk in the cafeteria.

By far, the most serious case of the evening involved a certain freshman using the alias, Lavern Finley. This frosh was using the assumed name to avoid detection while breaking the rules of the initiation. Mr. Finley was dealt with severely by the court.

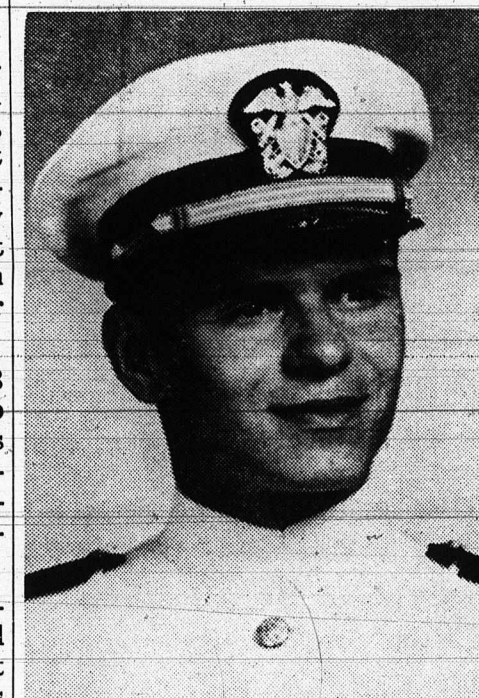

One of the convicted freshman created a mild sensation in registering a plea of innocent. However, after a consultation with Mr. Kumicich, the defense attorney, he quickly changed his plea and accepted the sentence.

The sentences pronounced by Judge Carr were tempered by his fatherly nature, and were given only to help the defendants correct their serious character faults and moral deficiencies.

The sentences were very constructive, and for a while, at least, the upperclassmen had no excuse for unshined shoes. Several of the statues about the campus were cleaned by the conscientious frosh, and certain sidewalks were also rendered immaculate.

Although the court was adjourned rather hurriedly, due to conditions beyond the control of the presiding judge, Frosh and Sophs alike agreed on its success.

Ex-Army Lieutenant Is New School Dietician

Ensign George Grecu

Former Grad Ends Training

A former St. Joe student, George J. Grecu of Kokomo, Ind., has graduated from the U. S. Naval Officers Candidate School at Newport, R. I. Grecu, who received his B. S. degree in Business administration last June, has completed a two-month indoctrination course in preparation for his commission as ensign, which he received on Sept. 11.

Following his graduation, he was sent to a service school for further training in the specialty duties he will assume shortly.

All men accepted in this naval program are required to be graduates of accredited colleges or universities with baccalaureate degrees, and must be between the ages of 19 and 33.

If you've noticed an increase in the military efficiency of the cafeteria scene lately, or if you've detected a military tang in the food, it isn't your imagination playing games. St. Joe's new dietician, Mrs. Jane McCullough, has two years' experience as a First Lieutenant in the W.A.C. behind her. Though she can't have you court-martialed for taking two desserts, an (ex-) officer's glance can sometimes be as foreboding as the wrong end of an Army 45.

Don't get the wrong idea, though, Mrs. McCullough is as friendly and amiable a person as one would want to meet. She hails from East Liverpool, Ohio, and has had ample education in handling both food and people, as evidenced by her Bachelor of Science degree in Foods, and Master of Science degree in Psychology, both received from the University of Ohio. She served her internship at Oklahoma A. & M., and spent five years on the staff at Ohio U.

She is now working on her doctorate degree, which she expects to receive from the University of Chicago. Mrs. McCullough, incidentally, has a son who will soon be coming to live with her on the campus. So if you sophomores spot a youngish-looking Frosh without a beanie on campus, don't use too strong a variety of language on him as he is only two years old.
